The parade was inspected by Shri Bharat Chandra, IPS, Principal Secretary, Home, Andhra Pradesh. In his address, Shri Chandra stressed upon the need for effective training in fire prevention, detection and fire fighting. He expressed the hope that the fire wing of CISF will match with expertise to meet the fire risks and that NISA will play a key role in updating and moulding the firemen suitably to boldly accept the growing professional challenges and come out with flying colours.

Welcoming the guests on the occasion Shri P.V.K.Reddy, IPS, DIG/NISA said in his address that the CISF Fire Service Branch was constituted in 1969 and the first Fire Induction was made in Fertilizers and Chemicals Travancore, Cochin on 16th April, 1970 with 53 personnel. Today it provides Fire Protection coverage to 84 different Public Sector Undertakings with a strength of 5,027 including Power Plants, Steel Plants, ONGC Installations, Fertiliser Plants, Bharat Dynamics Ltd etc., which are very sensitive from security and fire point of view. The CISF Fire Wing is known for its dedication and professional skills in the discharge of its duties. The training requirements of the fire service branch are of a highly specialized nature as it caters to the needs of modern and high risk industrial establishments.

Today the security scenario of the world is fast changing in the wake of September 11 suicidal terrorist attack on the WTC which claimed the lives of innocent people. The rescue services had shown exemplary courage and valour as some 350 firemen laid down their lives while rescuing the trapped people. In the view of
